Gramex is a membership organisation. Gramex's members are music producers (record companies) and performing artists.

The organisation was founded in 1963 and its purpose is to administer the right to remuneration for public performance of published sound recordings on behalf of performing artists and music producers. Gramex is approved by the Ministry of Culture to exercise this administration based on the compulsory license in section 68 of the Danish Copyright Act. Gramex may in addition administer rights to the use of published sound recordings based on specific mandates from the music producers and/or the performing artists.

Gramex collects remuneration on behalf of Danish and foreign rightsholders. Gramex itself is responsible for the collection of remuneration in several areas, in particular in radio and television, while the collection for the public performance of sound recordings that takes place in e.g., shops, restaurants, bars and gyms, is carried out by Koda on behalf of both Koda and Gramex.

Gramex is chaired by an executive board elected by Gramex's Annual General Meeting. The board has seven members, of which three of the members represent the performing artists, three of the members represent the producers, and one member has special knowledge of copyright law and the function of copyright in society. In addition, one substitute for the producers and one for the performing artists are elected to the board.

The day-to-day operations are managed by a Chief Executive Officer. Gramex has 26 employees in four departments: Finance & Administration, Business Development & Communication, Member Services & Repertoire, and IT.

Gramex collects remuneration from various users of music, including radio channels, shops, restaurants, theatres, etc., and distributes the remuneration to the rightsholders. Gramex's collections of remuneration apply to all rightsholders who hold the rights to sound recordings.

Gramex has reciprocal agreements with 45 foreign organisations in 33 countries and exchange annually remuneration with foreign sister organisations corresponding the use that has taken place of the repertoire represented by these organisations. Gramex receives similar remuneration from the use of the repertoire of Gramex's members in the countries with which we have reciprocal agreements. Gramex redistributes this remuneration to Gramex's members.

2. Activity report

2023 has been a transformative year for Gramex.

The year began with us putting our new production system Apollon into operation and thus starting all registrations of sound recordings, rights holders and music rights in the new system. This has meant changed workflows, and here, almost a year later, we are still in the process of becoming familiar with the new system.

The main payout in June was the first payout on the new system. The payment went well, but not without challenges, so some distributions had to be pushed to later in the year.

By the end of the year, however, we had largely completed all planned payments. Individual payments on behalf of Performex are currently awaiting a new distribution agreement, and a larger part of the Performex funds for 2022 will therefore be paid out in 2024.

The new system enables better and more detailed information for rights holders about the use of their music. Rights holders can now see on My Gramex where, when and how much they have been played during the year. It is a significant improvement of Gramex's rights management, but there is still work to be done to optimize the usability for members. This work will continue in 2024.

Immediately before the summer holidays, The Ministry of Culture amended the foreign executive order on copyright. The new rules mean that from 2024 Gramex will represent a much bigger repertoire than before, since for instance the US repertoire has gone from unprotected to protected as a result of the change.

On this basis, Gramex must renegotiate all agreements to ensure that the rights holders – the current and the new ones – receive a fair payment for the use of their music. The first payment, to the "new" rights holders as well, is planned to take place in June 2025.

In October 2023, the members adopted a new distribution system at an extraordinary general meeting, which has implications for the performing artists in Gramex.

The main elements of the new system are a fixed track value, which means that it is the channel and duration only that determines the value of an airplay, and not the total number of performers on the sound recording.

Next, when the new distribution system is implemented, you can register as a performer with up to 3 instruments, just as it has been decided that in future you will also be able to register as an artistic producer.

2023 has thus in every way been a year of development and change, which is also seen in Gramex's administration costs, which increased by 13% in 2023 compared to 2022. The increased cost level is expected to continue into 2024, as Gramex is still in a development period.

At the same time, revenues have risen nicely, and the total revenue will end in 2023 at DKK 253 million compared to DKK 232 million in 2022, corresponding to a revenue boost of 9%.

In addition, after a 2022 with significant losses on its investments, Gramex will have a surplus on investments and interest of DKK 6,624,535 in 2023. This amount is added to the year's distribution, and this means that in 2023 we will end up with DKK 246 million in total in distribution, which is 17% more than in 2022.

It is extremely satisfactory, not least considering the many changes that have also characterized the year.

Gramex's annual accounts are attached as appendix A. An overview of remuneration from/to our sister organizations in 2023 can be seen in appendix B, while the funds paid out in 2023 are presented in appendix C.

3. Management and distribution

As mentioned in item 1, Gramex manages the rights under Section 68 of the Danish Copyright Act, which concerns public performance of published sound recordings. This is Gramex's main business area.

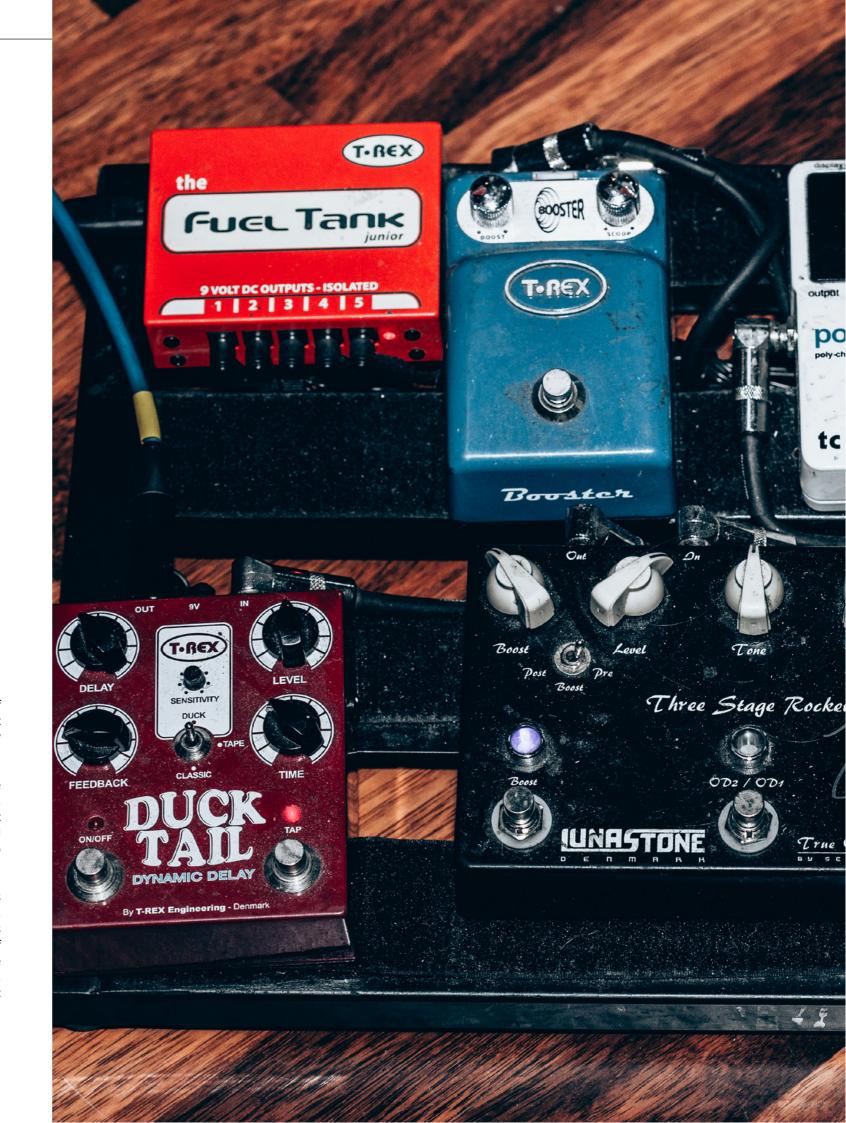

In addition, Gramex handles rights according to specific mandates from the music producers (IFPI). This applies, for example, to the accessory copying that is associated to the public performance in selected customer areas.

Gramex has been appointed by the Ministry of Culture to handle the so-called 20% pool. When the term of protection for recordings was extended from 50 to 70 years, a scheme was introduced at the same time for an annual supplementary remuneration for performing artists who have been bought out and who, without such a separate scheme (20% the pool), would not benefit from the extended term of protection.

The funds come from the music producers' sales, etc. of recordings that would have fallen out of protection, but where the legislative amendment has meant that they are still protected.

While Copydan KulturPlus is responsible for the collection of blank media remuneration in Denmark, Gramex, in agreement with a number of artist organisations, is responsible for the distribution and payment of the audio share of blank media funds to Danish and foreign performing artists.

On behalf of Performex, Gramex distributes and pays remuneration to performing artists in a number of areas. These are retransmission of published sound recordings on both television and radio, remuneration for the use of published sound recordings included in archive productions, cf. section 30a of the Danish Copyright Act, and the performing artists' share of the use of music videos.

The basis for registration of rights are the studio recordings forms, Gramex receives from the Danish music producers, as well claims received from foreign sister organisations and agents.

In 2023, we have received almost 5,000 studio recordings forms from Danish music producers and approximately 300 discographies from Danish artists who perform on international sound recordings. Annually, Gramex also receives hundreds of thousands of claims from international sister organizations and agents.

All studio recordings forms are filled out on Gramex's web portal My Gramex and received electronically. The studio recordings form includes information about the release and all tracks; including producer rights and information on the contributing performing artists, their instruments, and roles – e.g., soloist, studio musician, orchestra musician, conductor, etc.

Gramex registers a studio recordings form when Gramex has received a report from a radio/TV channel that a track on the sound recording has been played. From the studio recordings form, we register the producer rights of the recording and all the contributing performing artists track by track.

New rights holders are offered a membership of Gramex, and all performing artists are registered with points based on their artistic role on the individual track as stated on the studio recording form.

When a played recording on radio/TV cannot be matched with existing repertoire or a studio recordings form, it ends up on a so-called shortlist, and we reserve an estimated number of points on the track for a later claim, either in the form of a studio recordings form or a foreign claim.

Foreign claims are received from sister organisations or from agents. Every year they receive a list of all played recordings reported to Gramex. From this list, they submit their claims on behalf of the rights holders they represent (both producers and performing artists).

Once all the year's played recordings are registered, and the year's minutes and points of the year are in place, annual runs are carried out, where the year's result is distributed as described under section 5. Hereafter, they are ready for payment.

5. Distribution Policy

Gramex is obliged to carry out individual distribution of the income that is collected in under the compulsory license in section 68 of the Copyright Act. This distribution must be done regularly, carefully and accurately and in accordance with the general distribution policy approved by the annual general meeting.

The general meeting shall annually adopt the general distribution policy for distribution of the remuneration received. The executive board decides the specific distribution rules within the framework of the general distribution policy.

All incoming remuneration collected on the basis of the compulsory license in section 68 of the Danish Copyright Act, is distributed equally between music producers and performing artists. Revenue that only one rights group (music producers or performing artists) has placed under the management of Gramex is distributed solely to the respective rights group.

Revenues are divided into 3 main groups:

- a. Individual funds revenues collected under section 68 of the Danish Copyright Act, and where reporting is received from individual customers for their use of music (radio/tv).
- b. Non-individualised funds revenues collected under section 68 of the Danish Copyright Act, and where no reporting is received from individual customers for the use of the music (stores, restaurants, bars, hotels, etc.))
- c. Direct revenues revenues that is collected either under section 68 of the Danish Copyright Act or by mandate from one of the rights groups, which are not radio/tv funds, and where the individual customers report for the use of music. This group also includes foreign revenues as well as revenues that Gramex has not itself collected but has only undertaken to distribute to others on behalf of others (e.g., blank media, retransmission, and archive productions).

Before distribution is carried out, administration costs are deducted, and a reservation amount are deducted to cover any later eligible claims. On the producer side, the reservation amount is 1% of the AOF income (income from shops, bars, restaurants etc.), and on the performing artist side it accounts for 1% of the share of the remuneration attributed to cultural purposes.

Regardless of whether the collection of remuneration takes place pursuant to section 68 or according to a specific mandate from either the performing artists or the music producers, the same share the administration cost is paid.

Administrative costs are not deducted from the revenues received for the use of Danish music abroad, as these revenues have already been reduced by the costs incurred by the respective foreign sister organisation for collection and distribution. The same applies to the share of the remuneration received from Greenland and the Faroe Islands, respectively, which is distributed back to Greenlandic and Faroese producers and performing artists.

The net revenue is then distributed to the rights holders within the distribution categories to which the revenue relates to.

Individual funds

The individual funds – all of which relate to radio and television – are divided into the following 6 categories which are the same for music producers and performing artists:

- National channels (radio and tv)
- Regional channels
- Commercial national radio channels
- Commercial local radio channels
- DAB radio
- Instore radio

Non-individualised funds

The non-individualised funds are handled as a separate distribution with reuse of the radio data that has been used as a basis for the individual distribution.

Direct revenues

The direct remuneration is divided into the following different categories for producers and performing artists respectively.

Producers:

- Theatres, foreground music
- Copying, theatres etc.
- Copying, jukeboxes etc.
- International
- Remuneration for Greenlandic and Faroese rights holders

Performing artists:

- Theatres
- Blank media
- Retransmission
- 20 % pool
- Archive productions
- Music video
- International

Calculation of remuneration within the different distribution categories

The distribution is based on different principles for the music producers and the performing artists.

Music producers' distribution

The share of music producers is distributed by calculation a minute value within the relevant distribution category. The minute value is obtained by dividing the total number minutes played within the category with the remuneration within the same category. Is the minute value e.g., calculated to be DKK 10, and a recording has been played 10 minutes within a category, the music producer will receive DKK 100 (10x10) for the airplay of this recording within the respective category.

This way of allocating remuneration applies to all distributions to music producers.

Performing artists' distribution

In addition to the minutes played and the revenue within each category, the performers' distribution is also based on a points system.

The artists' points system means that each performer on a recording is awarded a number of points. The number of points you are awarded as a performer depends on the role you have on the recording (e.g. soloist, guitarist or conductor), whether there are several soloists, and whether you participate as part of a group, a band or a large/small orchestra.

The performing artists' share of the revenue received is calculated by calculating a minute point value, which is obtained by multiplying the total number of minutes played by the total number of points in play within each category. The result of this is divided up into the total revenue within each category, resulting in the minute point value.

This way of distributing revenue for performing artists applies to individual funds and non-individualised funds.

Revenues related to blank media, retransmission, archive and music video are distributed in accordance with agreements made directly with the relevant artist organisations.

Revenues associated with the 20% pool must be distributed to the performing artists who are contributors on recordings that have been unprotected, but which, due to the extension of the term of protection from 50 to 70 years, have subsequently been re-protected and which continue to generate sales revenue. The revenues are distributed solely among performers who have received a one-off fee for their contribution on the recording.

The distribution rules can be found on Gramex's website, where you will also find the annual minute point values within the different distribution categories.

In October 2023, the members adopted a new distribution policy at an extraordinary general meeting, which introduces a fixed track value for the artists, which has an impact on the distribution of remuneration from June 2024. In short, this means that all tracks have the same minute value regardless of the number of performers. At the same time, the remuneration within the track is distributed among the performers, so that their role(s) corresponds to a share of the total value of the track.

In continuation of that change, the artist group on the board is now working to modernize the distribution rules, including the points system. More information will follow when the new distribution rules are ready to be implemented.

Unallocated remuneration

Unallocated remuneration is remuneration, Gramex have not been able to distribute because we have not been able to identify the rights holders.

However, it can also be funds where Gramex has been able to identify the rights holder, but has not been able to contact them, or where the rights holder (on the producer side) has failed to claim their rights despite requests.

According to Gramex's rules, unallocated/ undistributed/unpaid remuneration become statute-barred 3 years after the end of the year to which the remuneration relates. This means that by the end of 2023, Gramex will expire the rights funds relating to the 2020 rights year.

On the artist side, DKK 8,715,288 will expire at the end of 2023, while DKK 6,594,206 will expire on the producer side.

In accordance with the adopted policy for non-distributable funds, these funds are first used to cover post-calculations.

On the artist side, the remaining remuneration is used for social, cultural, and educational purposes, cf. item 12.

The music producers' undistributable funds are distributed on the basis of reported plays of protected recordings on radio, TV and any other sources in accordance with the distribution categories. According to the adopted policy for undistributable funds, the producers' representatives on the executive board may decide that the undistributable funds can be used in whole or in part for social, cultural, and educational purposes. However, such a decision has not been made in 2023, which is why the music producers' undistributable funds for 2023 are set for redistribution.

Payments

Gramex has 4 annual payments in March, June, September, and December.

The June payment is the main payment of the year. It typically takes place in week 24-25, when last year's distribution is settled and paid out. Music played in the radio in 2023 will therefore be paid out in June 2024. We pay out to members, agents and sister organisations in all 3 main groups (individual, non-individualised and direct income) as well as in areas where we have undertaken the distribution on behalf of other rights organisations.

In September, we pay remuneration from Gramex's foreign sister organisations to Danish and direct foreign members. This is payment for use of their repertoire in the countries outside Denmark with which we have agreements and therefore exchange repertoire, rights and remuneration across borders. We also pay out back payments of Gramex funds that we have not been able to pay out in June. This may be because we were missing a signature, studio recording form, an approval of airplay minutes or any other form of valid documentation of the rights.

The December payment is a follow-up payment of Gramex funds in all 3 main groups (individual, non-individualised and direct income as well as retransmission (radio, TV, archive and blank media funds. These are again funds for Danish and direct foreign members, agents, and sister organisations.

In March, we make another follow-up payment of Gramex funds and remuneration from Gramex's foreign sister organisations to Danish and directly foreign members for the use of their music abroad.

In all payments, follow-up payments are made for previous years that have not previously been paid, e.g., because no claims have been made previously, or new contributors have been added to a recording that has previously been settled.

8. Deductions for administration costs and costs for cultural purposes

As stated in item 5, deductions are applied for justified and documented administrative expenses across various remuneration categories.

In addition, cf. the Danish Act on Collective Management of Copyright, section 14, deductions may be made for social, cultural, and educational purposes to the extent, subject to approval by the General Meeting. However, deductions can only be made from income paid to foreign management organizations based on the representation agreement if the foreign organization has agreed to this.

As for the performing artists in Gramex, deductions are currently made from the royalties for social, cultural and educational purposes. The deduction, which is 10 per cent, is deducted from the income related to section 68 of the Copyright Act. A deduction of up to 10% is made from the revenues collected by Gramex on behalf of the performers represented by foreign management organisations to the extent that the relevant foreign management organisation has given its explicit consent.

Investment and risk management policy

The current investment policy implies that all received and reserved remuneration must be invested prudently and in the best possible way, and Gramex generally pursues a cautious and conservative investment policy.

In 2023, all funds have been placed in accounts in nationwide banks either as cash deposits or in bonds and treasury bills.

The general meeting must approve Gramex's investment policy annually.

10. Supervisory function

Pursuant to section 6 of the Danish Act on Collective Management, it is Gramex's General Meeting that must make decisions on the organisation's risk management policy, acquisition, sale or mortgaging of real estate, mergers and alliances, establishment of subsidiaries, acquisition of equity interests and rights, raising loans, granting loans, or providing collateral for loans.

In 2023, it has not been relevant for the annual general meeting of Gramex to make decisions on the above matters.

11. Information on relations with other collecting societies

Gramex collaborates with other management organisations in a number of areas. In relation to licensing of rights, Koda is the most important partner in Denmark. Koda is responsible for collecting remuneration on behalf of both Koda and Gramex in the area called other public performance (AOF), which covers the use of music in shops, restaurants, bars, fitness centres, hotels, etc.

Koda deducts 7.5% in administration costs from the remuneration due to Gramex; the remaining amount is paid to Gramex quarterly.

Gramex also has a co-operation with Performex, which consists of Gramex distributing on behalf of Performex some of the retransmission revenues that Performex receives from Copydan Verdens TV.

In addition, Gramex also distributes income on behalf of Performex in the archive area, which is related to DR's use of its own archive productions.

Finally, Gramex cooperates with 45 foreign management organisations, which in each of their territories have undertaken to represent the rights that Gramex manages on behalf of its members.

12. Report on the use of deductions for cultural purposes

In accordance with the adopted policy for deduction of costs, cf. item 8, Gramex has in the 2023 financial year made a deduction totalling DKK 11,263,656 from the performing artists' income for use for cultural, social, and educational purposes. In addition, in accordance with the general distribution policy and for use for the same purpose, an additional DKK 7,221,092 has been added, which constitutes unclaimed funds.

The income is paid to the eight artist organisations, each of which represents members who are active in the Gramex area. The money is distributed between the eight organisations as follows:

- Dansk Kapelmesterforening 9,0 %
- Dansk Musiker Forbund 29,25 %
- Korsangernes Fællesråd 8,0 %
- Dansk Artist Forbund 29,25 %
- Dansk Solist Forbund 5,5 %
- Solistforeningen af 1921 8,0 %
- Dansk Skuespillerforbund 9,0 %
- Dansk Organist- og Kantorsamfund 2,0 %

The cultural funds play a crucial role in the development and strengthening of the Danish music scene and contribute not only to finding and developing new talent, but just as much to further train performers in the established music industry.

In addition, parts of the cultural funds are allocated to political lobbying efforts in the area of copyright and generally to strengthen copyright protection and law enforcement, which benefits both the Danish and the international music industry.

The eight organisations prepare an annual report to Gramex on the use of the cultural funds disbursed. In 2023, Gramex has received reports on the organisations' use of the funds paid to the organisations in 2022 from the rights year 2021. An overview of the use of the cultural funds by the eight organisations can be found in appendix d.

In 2023, no deductions for cultural purposes have been made in the music producers' income.

The independent auditor's audit opinion

To the members of Gramex

Conclusion

In our opinion, the financial statements and the distribution accounts give a true and fair view of the association's assets, liabilities and financial position at 31 December 2023 and of the results of the association's operations for the financial year 1 January - 31 December 2023 in accordance with the provisions of the Danish Financial Statements Act for accounting class A, the articles of association and the basis of distribution and section 23(5) of the Act on collective management of copyright.

We have audited the financial statements and distribution accounts of Gramex for the financial year 1 January - 31 December 2023, which comprise accounting policies, income statement, balance sheet, cash flow statement, corresponding to the rights holders, notes and distribution information (the "financial statements").

Basis for conclusion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing and additional requirements applicable in Denmark. Our responsibilities under those standards and requirements are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Association in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' (IESBA Code) and the additional ethical requirements applicable in Denmark, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the IESBA Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Management's responsibility for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation of financial statements and distribution accounts that give a true and fair view in accordance with the provisions of the Danish Financial Statements Act for accounting class A, the articles of association and the basis of distribution and that fulfil the requirements of section 23(5) of the Danish Act on Collective Administration of Copyright. Management is also responsible for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the association's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the association or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibility for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing and additional requirements applicable in Denmark will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing and the additional requirements applicable in Denmark, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. In addition:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than the risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentation or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the organisation's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting in preparing the financial statements and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the organisation's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the organisation to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Accounting policies

General remarks

The financial statements and distribution accounts for Gramex for 2023 have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Danish Financial Statements Act for accounting class A, articles of association and distribution basis, and section 23(5) of the Act on Collective Management of Copyright.

The accounting policies are unchanged compared to the previous year.

General recognition and measurement

Remuneration is recognised in the income statement as it is earned. In addition, value adjustments of financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value or amortised cost are recognised.

Additionally, all costs incurred to achieve the year's earnings are recognised in the income statement, including depreciation, amortisation, impairment losses and provisions as well as reversals due to changes in accounting estimates of amounts previously recognised in the income statement.

Assets are recognised in the balance sheet when it is probable that future economic benefits will flow to the association and the value of the asset can be measured reliably.

Liabilities are recognised in the balance sheet when it is probable that future economic benefits will flow from the association and the value of the liability can be measured reliably.

On initial recognition, assets and liabilities are measured at cost. Subsequently, assets and liabilities are measured as described for each item below.

Income statement

Revenue for distribution includes the royalties collected on behalf of the rights holders from both radio and television broadcasts and other public performances of phonograms for the year.

Income from sister organisations abroad is recognised as income when it is received.

Distribution costs include costs for the organisation's administrative staff, management, office space, office expenses and other administrative costs incurred in connection with the management of the rights.

Financial items include interest, dividends and unrealised capital gains on bond holdings.

The balance

Securities

The securities portfolio is recognised at market value on the balance sheet date.

Intangible assets

IT projects that are clearly defined and identifiable, where the technical utilisation rate, sufficient resources and a potential future market or development opportunity in the association can be demonstrated, and where the intention is to produce, market or use the project, are recognised as intangible assets if there is sufficient certainty that the capital value of future earnings can cover production, sales and administrative costs and the IT project costs themselves.

IT project costs that do not meet the criteria for recognition in the balance sheet are recognised as expenses in the income statement as incurred. IT project costs comprise software and external consultancy services that are directly attributable to the project and are measured at cost less any residual value and amortised over the expected useful life, which is 5-8 years.

Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are recognised at cost less depreciation and any impairment losses. Cost comprises the purchase price and costs directly attributable to the acquisition until the date when the asset is ready for use. Depreciation, which is calculated as cost less any residual value, is recognised on a straight-line basis over the expected useful life of the assets, which is 3-5 years.

Receivables

The practice for calculating receivables via Koda is based on the invoicing principle. Receivables are recognised in the balance sheet at amortised cost, which essentially corresponds to nominal value. The value is reduced by write-downs for expected losses according to established principles based on the organisation's experience.

Financial liabilities

Liabilities are measured at amortised cost, which essentially corresponds to nominal value.

Distribution

The year's available distribution amounts are distributed to the rights holders according to the distribution principles established by the rights aroups.

Cash flow statement

The cash flow statement shows the association's cash flows for the year, broken down into operating, investing and financing activities, changes in cash and cash equivalents for the year, and the association's cash and cash equivalents at the beginning and end of the year.

Cash flow from operating activities

Cash flow from operating activities is calculated as profit for the year adjusted for changes in working capital and non-cash items such as depreciation, amortisation, impairment and provisions. Working capital comprises current assets less current liabilities excluding the items included in cash and cash equivalents.

Cash flow from investing activities

Cash flow from investing activities includes cash flows from the purchase and sale of intangible, tangible and financial fixed assets.

Cash flow from financing activities

Cash flow from financing activities includes cash flows from the raising and repayment of long-term debt and payments to and from the rights holders.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of "Cash and cash equivalents" and "Securities".

The cash flow statement cannot be derived from the published financial statements alone.

In relation to mandated areas that a group wants Gramex to handle, the same cost level (cost percentage) is charged as in the section 68 area, so the overall cost level is lowered for both parties.
